SUBSCRIPTION INFORMATION

The Job Information Lists are published four times during the school year--in October, December, February, and May. All issues provide information about four-year colleges and universities; the February and May issues contain supplementary two-year college listings. The cost of a subscription to the Lists is $10 for MLA members and $15 for non-members. Chairmen of departments which are members of the Association of Departments of English receive all issues without charge. To order the Lists, complete the coupon on the front cover and return it to the MLA with your check for $10 or $15. All orders must be prepaid.

Further inquiries should be addressed to Terrence Hustedt, Coordinator, Job Information Service, Modern Language Association, 62 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10011.

SUMMARY OF JOB MARKET

In this issue. Nearly 1100 departments have provided statements and statistics for this issue, representing 73 percent of all English departments in four-year colleges and universities in the U.S. and Canada. 135 of these are from departments which did not participate in the October issue, bringing the total participation for the year to 79 percent of all U.S. and Canadian English departments. These statements contain information about 255 definite vacancies and 95 possible vacancies for the 1973-74 academic year.

Statistical Analysis. Statistical data supplied by chairmen indicates that the number of doctorates seeking jobs for September 1973 has declined by nearly twenty percent from their October prediction, while the estimated number of vacancies has remained more or less constant. Chairmen now estimate that 1200 Ph.D.'s are seeking new employment for next fall, and, if these statistics follow last year's pattern, this number can be expected to be even smaller by February. Chairmen project a minimum 770 vacancies for Ph.D.'s next fall, and, if budgetary and staffing goals are realized, the number of vacancies could rise to more than 1050.

As in October, chairmen are uncertain of how many of the approximately 4,000 who will receive master's degrees this year will actually be looking for college teaching positions for September. However, they are able to identify a minimum of 290 definite vacancies for M.A.'s and the possibility of another 75 openings if their staffing goals are realized.

MLA Survey of Doctoral Programs in English. A current survey of the 128 departments of English awarding the doctorate indicates that 22 of the 90 departments whose responses have been tabulated have appointed a Job Information Officer to assist graduate students seeking employment. Other departments have established their own placement services, appointed faculty committees to assist job seekers, published handbooks on job seeking procedures, held frequent meetings on the current job situation, and provided financial assistance for candidates for positions with interviews at regional and national meetings.

Full-time graduate enrollments in doctoral programs this fall total 5,212, a figure slightly higher and more reliable than the 4,763 reported for 1971 and the 5,067 reported for 1970. Only 294 graduate students are identified as representatives of ethnic minority groups. Enrollments are higher in 34 departments, lower in 41, and the same as 1971 in 8. Fifty-eight departments have taken steps to reduce new enrollments in doctoral programs and 22 expect to take additional steps. Thirty departments have reduced new admissions or established quotas for new classes; 21 departments have raised standards for admission; and 8 departments report that financial aid for graduate students has been reduced by the institution.

These 90 departments graduated 1,093 doctorates last year and report that all but 122 secured or were continuing to teach in college positions this fall. The figure of 89.2% with college teaching positions is only slightly lower than the 91.2% "entering or continuing" college teaching reported by Don Cameron Allen in 1968 in The Ph.D. in English and American Literature (p. 17). Figures show that 550 doctorates are teaching in universities, 404 in four-year colleges, and 57 in two-year colleges. Twenty-one departments expect to hire more new full-time faculty for next year than for 1972, but 80 of the 90 report that they will recruit only 250 new full-time faculty for the fall of 1973, approximately 23% of the 1,107 doctorates they expect to graduate this academic year.

Further results of the survey of doctoral programs will be published throughout the year.

INFORMATION FOR CANDIDATES

Guide for using the Job Information Lists.

- 1) Read the summary of the job market first to get an overview of the job situation and to evaluate your own chances in the light of the total market.
- 2) Read through the issue item by item to see which departments would welcome your letter of application or inquiry at this time.
- 3) Use the zip code index on the inside front cover to find the states and regions of particular interest to you.
- 4) Send letters of application only to departments that have expressed an interest in receiving letters from candidates with your qualifications. If a department reports that it has no vacancies, do not waste your time and the chairman's time by writing. Chairmen will report any changes in their hiring situation in the February List.
- 5) If no information has been provided by the chairman in this issue, you must judge in each case whether or not a letter of inquiry would be worthwhile.

MLA Annual Meeting. The annual meeting of the Modern Language Association will be held in New York City on 27, 28, 29, and 30 December 1972. The meetings will be scheduled in the Americana Hotel (English) and the New York Hilton Hotel (foreign languages). Registration will take place in the Hilton Hotel only, but in each hotel there will be a Job Information Center, which will offer the following services:

- 1) Message Centers. Open from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. on the 27th, 28th, and 29th, the message centers are designed to help candidates and chairmen who have corresponded before the convention and who wish to establish specific interview times and places. The message centers will not be useful to those who leave messages at random for persons with whom they have not corresponded and who may not even be attending the convention. Such messages are usually ignored and serve only to defeat the purpose of the centers.
- 2) Chairman Sign-In Desk. Chairmen or departmental representatives who plan to hold job interviews during the convention should register at the sign-in desk so that the candidates with whom they have corresponded regarding interviews will be able to locate them.
- 3) Interview Areas. For the convenience of department chairmen and candidates, one room in each Job Information Center will be set aside for job interviews. Chairmen who wish to use the interview areas must schedule their own interviews either by letter before the convention or by leaving messages at the message center.
- 4) Vacancy Notices. As in the past, vacancy notices received too late for inclusion in this issue of the Job Information Lists will be posted on bulletin boards at the convention. These notices will also appear in the February issue so that candidates who do not attend the meeting will have the opportunity to see them.
- 5) Counseling Service. To afford all job seekers the opportunity to discuss individual job-seeking problems with experienced department chairmen, counselors will be on hand at each of the centers to speak with interested candidates from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. on the 27th, 28th, and 29th. While the counselors cannot help candidates obtain interviews, they can and will offer advice on such matters as the appropriate content and presentation of vitae and letters of application, the kinds of institutions to which candidates might most successfully apply, etc.
- 6) Peace Corps Representatives. Peace Corps again is seeking 750 Volunteers to teach English as a foreign language in Asia and Africa. Representatives will be present at each job information center to discuss opportunities, answer questions and accept applications for the two-year expense paid assignment in twenty nations.
